Friday 10th February 2023

Dear Mums, Dads, and Carers,

And that's it for another half term. I really don't know where the time is going this year. It only feels like a few weeks ago when we were welcoming children back in September. This week has been just as action packed as the others. Years 2 and 6 have been working incredibly hard completing their final practice assessments before the real ones in May and I have been incredibly proud of the effort that they have put into their learning this year. I am truly convinced that their hard work and determination will be rewarded, and they will achieve the scores that they deserve.

Earlier today, KS1 enjoyed a virtual author visit from Rachel Morrisoe, writer of The Drama Llama, while Years 5 and 6 were virtually visited by Beth Lincoln, writer of The Swifts. Both these sessions were thoroughly engaging and will have hopefully encouraged more children to be writers.

Also, today has seen our TT Rockstars Day where children and adults across school have come dressed as their favourite rockstar, all having fantastic amounts of fun, practising their times table knowledge, which is so important for the children's mathematical learning. Rapid recall of times table knowledge underpins the vast majority of the mathematical concepts which are taught in school and without this fluency, children will often find maths more difficult.

Finally, I would like to wish you all a fantastic break and remind you that the first Monday back is an INSET day, so the children don't come back until Tuesday 21st February.

Coffee Morning

Tuesday 7th March - We are having a coffee morning, all parents, carers, and grandparents are invited. This will be in the school hall after morning drop off. It would be lovely to see parents in school at our first coffee morning since Covid.
